Cutting Out Junior Teams Is Considered

Matter Of Summer Series To Be Thrashed Out Next Friday—Four Big Teams In Field—Decision To Be Had On Juniors.

At the meeting of the athletic division of the Maui County Fair & Racing Association held last Friday night, it was decided to call a meeting of the base ball managers and others interested in base ball, for next Friday evening, April 23, at which time it is expected the details for the summer base ball series will be decided upon.

At the present time it looks as though there will be four senior teams in the field—the Wacs, Lahaina, Asahis, and Palms. The question of a junior series is still a question. Some of these interested are in favor of eliminating the younger set this summer, while others hold that this would be a mistake and would hurt the sport on Maui in discouraging the new material necessary to keep up the older teams from year to year. The matter will probably be decided one way or the other next Friday.

There are several junior teams at present more or less well organized. One of these which is making quite a reputation for itself is at Camp 1, Spreckelsville, where a fine diamond was recently laid out affording excellent practice. Makuwao also has the makings of a good team, it is reported, while the Wacs have a capable body of youngsters trying to break into the game.

Wacs And Asahis To Play Series Of Their Own

Although the summer baseball series will not begin for some time yet, the Asahis and the Wacs have decided to stage a little 3-game series beginning next Sunday, the proceeds to be used in defraying the cost of equipment of the teams for the coming season. The admission will be same as to the regular series games and the returns will be divided equally between the teams. Considerable interest is being manifested among the fans in the little series.

Soccer Not Favored As Summer Sport

Whether or not soccer is to be taken up on central Maui is still a moot question. The matter did not receive any extended discussion at the meeting of the athletic division of the fair association last Friday night, but may come up later.

There is a disposition on the part of at least some members, to feel it would be undertaking too much to start soccer at the beginning of the base ball season. The members favor holding the soccer open until next fall and the organizing soccer to take the place of the usual winter base ball series.

The matter will probably be decided at the next meeting.

Lahaina Asks For And Will Get Tennis Courts

Lahaina wants more tennis facilities and is likely to get them. At the meeting of the board of supervisors last Friday afternoon George Freeland, of Lahaina, asked the board to conduct at least one, but preferably two tennis courts in Malu-u-u-ole for use of the public, and the request was turned over to the county engineer with instruction that he take the matter up with the district overseer and the park commissioners for action.

In The Other Islands

Would Join American Federation—A special meeting of the Federation of Japanese Labor in Hawaii has been called for next Monday for the purpose of amending the constitution of the organization preliminary to applying for membership in the American Federation of Labor.

Oscar and His Wife, of Waialua, who both injured last Monday when their automobile crashed into a broad train at Aiea. Their machine was demolished and both had a narrow escape from death. They are in the Queen's hospital.

Newspaper Course—A course in practical newspaper work has been inaugurated as a part of the curriculum of McKinley high school and regular sessions will be begun on April 19, following the Spring vacation. The course is being given by W. K. Bassett, a member of the editorial staff of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser, and a large number of students, both boys and girls, have registered in the class.

Maui Tennis Players Make Fine Showing

Miss McLeod Is Star Woman Player Against Mainland Champion—W. A. Baldwin Also Gets Complimented By Honolulu Experts

HONOLULU, April 13—Bowie Detrick, the California tennis star, had to play his hardest yesterday afternoon to avoid defeat in the mixed doubles preliminaries of the Centennial Tennis Tournament at the hands of Miss McLeod and W. A. Baldwin of Maui. Detrick was paired with Mrs. Graham of the Manoa Tennis Club. The scores were 7-5, 9-7. At that, there was room for doubt on a vital decision, Detrick making a hard drive return at point set when the games score stood 5-4 in favor of the Maui pair, the linesman calling it safe, although many of the spectators declared the return was out. This would have given the Valley Islanders the second set and necessitated a third one.

Miss McLeod was the star of the afternoon. She returned Detrick's fast serve nicely and a number of times chopped off his smash returns to the sidelines for points. The Mautes played mostly to Mrs. Graham and never let Detrick get a chance at the ball if he could help it, although several times when points were badly needed the California man rushed in and took the play away from his partner. If Miss McLeod's partner had been anywhere near Detrick's standard, it is highly probable that the Maui team would have won.

Bowling Still Popular Annual Dues Raised

Things are still hanging fire in the matter of the proposed telegraphic bowling tournament to be played between the Gym club and Honolulu teams. It is hoped to have the details of this event satisfactorily arranged in a short time. In the meantime the local interests remain keen and the allegys in the gymnasium are worked almost constantly.

At a meeting held this week some new rules were adopted intended to curb some abuses of the alleys and paraphernalia, and it was also decided to raise the annual dues from $2 to $5, it having been found that the smaller sum did not keep up the alleys and pay for attendance.

Tennis Players To Compete For Cup

The long talked of tennis tournament under the auspices of the Settlement Tennis Club, is finally under way. The cup committee composed of a number of its decisions on Wednesday from now on for the next few weeks there will be plenty doing on the Settlement courts. The tournament, as is generally known, is for a cup donated by the T. H. Davies Co., of Honolulu.

Following is the way the 40 players are paired off to start with the handicap markings allowed by the committee:

Young Ting (c) vs. Geo. Weight (c); B. O. Wist (c) vs. P. Crockett (c); P. H. Townsley (c) vs. A. C. Bowditch (c); Jack Linton (c) vs. John MacLaren (a); J. Y. Ting (d) vs. H. S. Walker (b); Chan Jim (d) vs. A. W. Collins (a); Wm. Engle (a) vs. C. E. Burns (a) vs. Wm. Hansen (c); Alex. McNeill (b) vs. H. K. Brusa (d); E. F. Tam (a) vs. A. B. Campbell (c); F. A. Lufkin (c) vs. G. M. Phelps (b); S. K. Yemoto (c) vs. Geo. S. Allen (c); H. K. Inada (a) vs. A. K. Jim (c); Kap C. Choi (c) vs. Sterling Hebert (c) vs. R. B. Rellow (c); Geo. Murray (b) vs. Jack Walker (c); W. A. Baldwin (a) vs. Chock Chin (d); David Rattery (b) vs. A. P. Gordon (c); E. R. Bovins (c) vs. E. C. Mellor (c); D. C. Lindsay (b) vs. John Ching (c).

If any one wishes a job that will pay from $600 to $1020 a year, and who can handle a boat, he has the chance of taking the examinations before the civil service commission in Honolulu on April 20 for eligibility as light-house keeper.

Korean Boy Killed—Kim Young Chin, a young Korean of Honolulu, while riding a bicycle last Sunday night, was struck by an automobile driven by R. J. McKeague, and died a short time later. McKeague will probably be tried on a manslaughter charge.

Hawaii Senator Dies Suddenly—George Panila Kamaheua, a member of the territorial senate from Hawaii, and a prominent politician of the Big Island, died suddenly at his home at Napoepoo, South Kona, Hawaii, last Sunday morning. He had had influenza but was believed to have practically recovered when he was stricken with a relapse.

Railroad May Get Run-From Hudson Bay To Argentina

NEW YORK, April 7—Realization of the dream of a railroad from Hudson Bay to Patagonia and Buenos Aires has been brought nearer as a result of the Pan-American Financial Conference in Washington, according to Charles M. Pepper who, in 1903, was appointed by President Roosevelt under authority of Congress to visit the several countries from Mexico southward and report on the project.

A journey by rail from the Arctic Circle to the tip of South America—approximately 16,000 miles—could be made under good traffic conditions, it has been estimated, in 16 to 18 days. At present 24 days are required for the 5,871-mile sea voyage from New York to the capital of Argentina.

This dream of a trans-hemisphere trunk line, running almost the entire length of the two American continents, was born in the brain of Hinton Rowan Helper, a Southern writer and former United States consul in South America, more than 50 years ago. The late United States Senator Henry Gasaway Davis of West Virginia, a practical railroad builder, saw its feasibility, and, with Andrew Carnegie and other wealthy Americans, gave the idea a fresh impetus. James G. Elaine also once advocated it.

First Definite Form
The project, however, received first definite form at the International American Conference held in Mexico City in 1902 when it appointed a permanent Pan-American Railway Committee composed of prominent citizens of the United States and diplomatic officials of Latin-American countries resident in Washington. Former Senator Davis and Mr. Carnegie were members of it. Later, as the envoy of the President and the representative of the committee, Mr. Pepper went to Central America and South America, and after visiting the various countries for a year, returned and made a report which has been the basis of subsequent action and legislation.

The general idea outlined in the Pepper report was that the different South and Central American nations in their railway construction should give special attention to the links in a through inter-continental trunk line North and South which, ultimately, would be joined. Attention was also given to the building of branch lines and "feeders," especially in South America, on the theory that in time there would be through lines from the Atlantic to the Pacific which would form intersecting systems.

Subsequent Pan-American conferences held at Rio Janeiro and Buenos Aires approved the idea and continued the Pan-American Railway Committee. The International High Commission, now renamed as the Inter-American High Commission, which was the outgrowth of the first Pan-American Financial Conference held in Washington in 1915, also approved the project and urged its support by the various Republics.

"In the 18 years since the plan was endorsed by the Mexican Conference," explained Mr. Pepper, "considerable progress has been made in joining up various railway sections. Chile has completed the longitudinal line from Puerto Mont in the south to the railways in the north which form junctions with the main trunk of the Pan-American system.

"The Transandine line, from Valparaiso to Buenos Aires, also has been completed while the lines joining the Brazilian systems radiating from Rio de Janeiro have been finished so that they form junctions with Uruguayan and Argentine lines.

"The Argentine line was finished to the southern border of Bolivia at La Quiaca several years ago while Bolivia has closed up most of the links in her Pan-American trunk line. There are now less than 125 miles in Bolivia to be completed, some of which is also graded, in order to provide through railway connection from Buenos Aires to La Paz and to the Pacific. It would cost approximately $5,000,000 to complete it.

Loan to Form Link

"The group committee on Bolivia at the recent Pan-American Financial Conference recommended that a loan be granted Bolivia for the purpose of completing this link. It was explained that the gauge was the same as that of the Argentine lines and an arrangement by which Bolivia could use Argentine rolling stock was suggested."

By a coincidence Mr. Pepper, who made the Pan-American Railway report under President Roosevelt, was a member of the group committee on Bolivia. He also was railway adviser to the Committee on Transportation. This committee adopted a resolution offered by Martinez Vargas of Bolivia, for calling a Pan-American Railway Conference further to consider the subject of railway operation, interchange of traffic, standardization of rates and financing. This resolution, as amended by the Committee on Resolutions and adopted by the recent conference, provided for referring the calling of such a meeting of Pan-American representatives to the Inter-American High Commission. Just when the trans-hemisphere railroad conference will be called has not yet been determined.

Argentina's keen interest in developing the Pan-American trunk line project was indicated by Dr. Ricardo C. Aldao, a member of the Argentine Financial Mission, not only at the conference in Washington but also in his address at the recent banquet of the Pan-American Society here. It was later pointed out by others that Argentina now has an 1,100-mile railroad from Buenos Aires to the Bolivian border, much of it built by British capitalists whose interests in South America are estimated at $4,000,000,000, half of which is said to be in Argentina. The Argentine government, it was said, controls this line, France and Belgium also have heavy South American railroad investments.

The war, it is said, has made it virtually impossible for European countries to continue their financing of South America and this is why delegations from Colombia, Peru, Chile, Brazil, Ecuador, Uruguay, Paraguay and other South American lands have visited the United States in recent years to awaken American investors to what they call "a big investment opportunity." The proposed trunk line would run from the United States through Mexico, Central America, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, almost the entire length of Chile and from La Quiaca, Bolivia, to Buenos Aires. From this main line would be connecting roads, some already completed, extending like "fingers" in many directions toward the Atlantic ocean.
